

FETTERMAN

How do I know my Republican opponent, Dr. Oz, is NOT ACTUALLY FROM PENNSYLVANIA???

It would have to be the fact that he recently stopped by Geno's, aka one of South Philly's most famous + touristy cheesesteak joints, for a bizarre cheesesteak photoshoot.

Ah yes, the trip to Geno's — a rite of passage for every tourist. 🤔

Even Geno's rival cheesesteak establishment, Pat's King of Steaks, joined in on the trolling on Twitter. 🗨️

Because nothing says “I’m not from here” than choosing a cheesesteak joint that serves more tourists than actual Pennsylvanians.

And look, I mean no disrespect to Geno's, which I'm sure serves up a delicious cheesesteak.

But REAL Pennsylvanians know you're probably better off going to Dalessandro's or John's Roast Pork to get your fix.

Now, I know what you may be thinking now. “John, come on, it's just a cheesesteak.” 😏

Sadly, this isn't just about cheesesteaks.

This is about choosing a Senator who understands + will fight for real Pennsylvanians, instead of a celebrity doctor making a mere pit stop at a tourist trap like Geno's.

I have lived in + fought for Pennsylvania my whole life. And now I'm running for U.S. Senate to fight as hard for PA families as I fight for my own.

Will you please make a donation of \$13 \(the price of a Geno's cheesesteak\) right now to help fund my campaign to defeat Dr. Oz? Send me to Washington, and I will fight like hell for working people + never embarrass you by doing a campaign photo shoot at Geno's.
