

Cassie Harden cassie@globalautismproject.org via ontramail.com

to me ▾

Apr 13 (5 days ago) ☆

Yosuke is learning to ride a horse...

When you joined COMPASS, you invested in changing lives. You joined a community of dynamic advocates who believe all people can learn. Yosuke is just one of the many lives you've changed, so I thought you may like to see what he's up to.

This year, Yosuke and joined his classmates in a sunny field in Kenya...

With the guiding hands of his teachers, he climbed atop his horse and laughed in excitement. For years, he's been working with his teachers to develop the skills needed to focus on his surroundings and maintain balance. And finally, he got to appreciate his effort

With the guiding hands of his teachers, he climbed atop his horse and laughed in excitement. For years, he's been working with his teachers to develop the skills needed to focus on his surroundings and maintain balance. And finally, he got to appreciate his effort while riding a horse in the breeze along with his friends.

Because of you, Pamela, Yosuke experienced the feeling of independence and accomplishment riding that horse. Thank you for being a COMPASS Member!

globalautismproject.org
#autismknowsnoborders

