

Hi Pat,

Welcome - you've joined the kettle!

(A "kettle" is the soaring group of Common Black Hawks that circle the skies above Northern Arizona — and now, you're part of ours.)

We're so glad you've signed up to connect with the Northern Arizona Audubon Society (NAAS). Our mission is simple but vital: To engage people in appreciating and protecting birds and the places they need in northern Arizona.

Here's what you can expect in your inbox:

Society News — updates on our conservation work, advocacy, and community impact.

Bird Insights — seasonal birding tips, migration highlights, and species spotlights.

Programs & Events — details about our bird walks, field trips, and monthly programs with local experts.

Conservation in Action — learn about projects like our Motus Wildlife Tracking System and habitat restoration efforts.

Get Involved Beyond the Inbox

Join a Bird Walk: Meet fellow birders, explore habitats, and sharpen your birding skills.

Volunteer or Support: Help us expand our conservation programs and community outreach.

Learn More: Visit our website for resources, program calendars, and ways to make a difference.

Thank you for joining us and adding your voice in protecting the birds and wild places of northern Arizona.
